

<http://www.irna.ir/fa/services/173/>

January/7/2019

Tehran, hosting the first meeting of the Asian Women's Sports Commission

The chairman of the Sports and Women Committee of the National Olympic Committee said: Asian Women's Commission 2019 Asian Women's Meeting held for the first time in 1998 with the presence of experts, and representatives of the old continent in Tehran. Mahin Farhadizad said on Monday about the details of the meeting to IRNA: The purpose of this hosting is to participate in the discussion and promotion of Asian women's sports, which will set the stage for the development of women's women's championship by establishing and maintaining these meetings. Farhadizad who has a good background in setting of sport told: In this meeting, Iran propose their suggestions that one of them is establishing sports camps for the nation, she has also announced the willingness of the host nation to host other camps in the country, especially in taekwondo, karate, shooting and some other disciplines. FarhadiZad pointed to the development of women's sports in the championship field and continued: this development requires pathology in areas where we have weaknesses to provide better conditions for more comprehensive planning. The chairman of the Sports and Women Committee of the National Olympic Committee said: : Today, the National Olympic Committee is the ultimate support for women's sports, and there is no doubt that with this capacity and support, we can take more effective steps compared to the past.

<http://www.irna.ir/fa/services/173/>

January/9/2019

The first international congress of sports rights was opened

The First International Sporting Rights Congress opens Wednesday with the presence of women's jurists and the General Secretary of the National Olympic Committee in Tehran. According to IRNA, the Congress began on the initiative of the National Olympic Committee and in cooperation with the International Women's Law School (Wiesla) in the development of sports rights at the National Olympic Academy from today. These women are members of the Weasle Association, an international association registered in Switzerland, and is set up in 2016, and its members are women's judges or legal advisers to the International Court of Arbitration for Sport. At the congress, Melanie Scherer is a former member of the FIFA Determination Department who has had many years of background in football federations and can be very valuable to Iranian clubs and lawyers. This is the first international congress on sports law, the instructors of its workshops are the first international jurists and most of the participants are lawyers and sports practitioners. Also during the congress, workshops such as the review of the dispute settlement system at FIFA, the International Court of Arbitration for Sport (CAS), sports and human rights, media and sports rights, the fight against doping, good governance in sports organizations and Settlement of football differences is held in Iran

<http://www.irna.ir/fa/services/173/>

January/13/2019

The Islamic Federation of Women's Sport was revived

The sports and youth minister, after eight years, introduced Elaheh Arabameri as the official of the Women's Islamic Sport Federation and reactive this committee again. According to IRNA, the Ministry of Sports and Youth finally agreed, following an inquiry by the International Olympic Committee, on the establishment of the Women's Sports Federation. The federation has so far hosted four international Muslim women's competitions in Iran.

The first international Muslim women's championship, held every four years, was held in 1993 with the participation of 10 countries and 407 athletes in seven fields of badminton, swimming, volleyball, shooting, handball, judo and track and field participated in 1993 and Iran was the victor of this competition. But in the second period, held in 1997, the number of participating countries reached 24 countries and 748 athletes, and Iran stood up one step on the platform. In 2001, from 23 countries, 798 athletes competed in 15 disciplines and Iran again became the champion. But finally, the fourth and final round was held in 2005, with representatives from 44 countries and a total of 1316 athletes in 18 categories equaling their opponents, and Iran won the title for the third time in succession.

<http://www.irna.ir/fa/services/173/>

January/15/2019

Lady Chess Shine in the Bundesliga

Iran's first lady in chess climbed to the 16th highest in the world's chess ladies by winning the fifth and sixth round of the German Bundesliga. According to a statement by the IRNA on Tuesday, according to the Chess Federation, Sara Sadat Khadem Al-Sharia, winning victory over his rivals in the fifth and sixth rounds of the German Bundesliga. He passed the fifth round of the Lena Georgioso Dam, and in the sixth round, with his brilliant victory against Alexandra Castinuk, Russians and the seventh best-known chess player of the world, he managed to increase his rating. With this rising rating, Iran's Chess Agent ranked sixth in the Top Chess World Championships with five steps in the live ranking. Sara Sadat Khadem Al-Sharia, who has historically made a gold medal and two silver medals in the World Chess Championship, is now among the best female chess players in Iran.

